

Networks Career Paths

In this lesson, we'll look at some possible career paths that you can pursue after you finish this course!

- Network technicians are staff that deploy cabling, equipment, troubleshoot networks.
- Network administrators supervise network operations and maintenance.
- Various vendor-specific certifications are popular for demonstrating mastery of networking concepts. For instance, CISCO has a few certifications which have credibility in the networking world.
- For software developers, knowing how networks operate is very useful.
- Network specialists set up and maintain networks and networking systems such as local area networks and wide area networks. They also install routers, switches, firewalls, and other networks-related software programs.