Quiz!

This quiz will test your knowledge of data models.

We have reached the end of this chapter. Good Job! At this point, we should be familiar with the first step in database design: schemas. You also learned to classify databases by their different attributes.

In the next chapter, we will learn all there is to know about the entityrelationship data model.