Test your skills

Consider the following code snippet:

```bash
#!/bin/bash

Bash function

 print () {
     echo $1 "Learn to Analyze Text Data"
 }

print Hello
```

Quizzes

1   What will be output of the following?

2   Most other programming languages have the concept of a return value

Most other programming languages have the concept of a return value for functions, a means for the function to send data back to the original calling location. Bash functions can

3 How to sort numerically the second column of a file? (choose all that are correct)

4 Sort, merge, or compare all the lines from the files given (or standard input.), use the following bash command:

5 To sort in reverse:

Check Answers