Quiz

This lesson covers multiple choice questions related to basics of Document Object Model.

1 In HTML DOM, everything is stored in the form of:

2 The element `` is the child node of which element?

3 The nodes cannot be further decomposed into any more elements. Is this statement True or False?

4 We can access any element from `document` variable in JavaScript, is this statement True of False?

5 The type of `` tag can be determined by:

6 The children of an element are stored in a `childNode` property which is:

7 What will this statement `document.parentNode` return?

8 The `document` variable corresponds to?

Check Answers